Mikio Nishizu is a member of Frost Brown Todd's International Services Group in the Business Department, where he provides all aspects of legal services to Japanese companies operating in the United States. Mr. Nishizu has extensive experience representing multi-national, as well as small- to mid-sized Japanese companies, in the strategic structuring and effective positioning of their U.S. presence, including joint venture, acquisition, and global transfer of international personnel. He serves as legal counsel to the Indiana Japanese Language School and to the Japanese Chamber of Commerce in Indianapolis, Indiana and Cincinnati, Ohio.

The Frost Brown Todd International Services Group provides expertise in both inbound and outbound international business transactions and operations, including product distribution and licensing agreements, mergers and acquisitions, joint ventures and direct investment, intellectual property, labor and immigration, international trade compliance and trade remedies, exporting, and dispute resolution. The International Services Group is supported by the firm's Business Combinations and Capital Transactions Practice, with expertise to service every major industry including information technology, financial services, engineering and construction, chemicals, healthcare, natural resources, and aerospace.

Frost Brown Todd is a full-service law firm serving some of America's top corporations and emerging companies. The firm's nearly 500 attorneys in nine offices throughout the central part of the USA provide unparalleled service to meet the needs of clients who operate their businesses locally, regionally, nationally, and internationally by delivering practical solutions available only from a diverse group of professionals.
